Neo-Latin Texts in a World

Context: Current Research

Organized by Anne-Marie Lewis, York University

The AANLS invites proposals for a panel of papers on current research in Neo-Latin texts in the Americas, Europe, Asia, Australia, and Africa to be held at the meeting of the Society for Classical Studies (SCS). Our intent is to illustrate the diversity and richness of Neo-Latin Studies; to underscore the importance of contemporary research in the complex, international phenomenon of Neo-Latin literature; and to give scholars an opportunity to share the results of their research and their methodologies with colleagues in the many disciplines that comprise Neo-Latin studies. We welcome papers on all aspects of the study of literary, historical, scholarly, legal, scientific and technical works written in Latin in the Renaissance and early Modern Period (to about 1800) and papers dealing with more recent Neo-Latin. Abstracts should be sent (and arrive no later than midnight EST on February 15, 2015), preferably electronically, to amlewis@yorku.ca or by mail to Prof. Anne-Marie Lewis, DLLL, S561 Ross Bldg., York University, 4700 Keele St., Toronto, ON M3J 1P3 Canada. Abstracts are to be a maximum of 650 words (not including a brief bibliography). In accordance with SCS regulations, abstracts for papers are read anonymously by three referees. Please follow instructions for individual abstracts on the SCS website. In your cover note, please confirm that you are an SCS/AIA member in good standing, with dues paid through 2015.

Thanks to Ed George and John Dillon for the Following Seasonal Neo-Latin Information

The composer Eyolf Østrem has put the lyrics of "Rudolph the Red Nosed Reindeer" to apparently flawless chant, complete with the traditional neums, in Latin. It's at: <http://thurible.net/2013/12/12/rudolphus/>.

The composer's website offers a page with an audio file of a sung version:

<http://oestrem.com/thingstwic/2013/12/reno-erat-rudolphus/> and another page with some comments about the origin of the Latin text: <http://oestrem.com/thingstwic/2013/12/some-more-about-rudolphus/>

Neo-Latin Fellowship Opportunity

The Ludwig Boltzmann Institute for Neo-Latin Studies in Innsbruck, Austria, offers fellowships (from 1 to 6 months) for younger (and older) scholars doing Neo-Latin research. For further information, see <http://neolatin.lbg.ac.at/researchprogramme/fellowships/>, or contact Prof. Dr. Florian Schaffenrath at Florian.Schaffenrath@UIBK.AC.AT.

News from Members

Julia Gaisser has just published "Succession and Inheritance in Pontano's Antonius." Studi di erudizione e di filologia italiana 2 (2012) 85-119. The journal (aka STEFI), is an online journal, and the article should be easily accessible. She would also be happy to send an electronic offprint to anyone who is interested.

During the Third Brazilian Congress of Rhetoric organized by the University of São Paulo in September 2014, Milena Minkova delivered an invited plenary presentation, "Rhetoric of the 'Other' in Neo-Latin (observations based on Erasmus, Busbecq, Peter Martyr, Sepúlveda, Joannes Latinus, Maffei, Landívar)." She is currently working on a critical anthology of Neo-Latin.

Spotlight on . . . Two AANLS E-Projects

AANLS is working on two Neo-Latin projects: "Neo-Latin in the New-World Context" and "Neo-Latin in the Classroom." The projects are online on our website, and we hope that members will be interested in contributing to these projects. Please contact Roger Fisher about any aspect of these projects (rfisher@yorku.ca), and we look forward to your contributions.

Neo-Latin News

Neo-Latin News is the official publication of the AANLS. It is edited by Craig Kallendorf, Texas A&M University. It is published at the back of the Seventeenth Century News and consists of book reviews. For links to past issues, see the link on the AANLS webpage.

April 2015: Neo-Latin Symposium at the Kentucky Foreign Language Conference

The third annual Neo-Latin Symposium at the Kentucky Foreign Language Conference (KFLC) will take place on April 23-25, 2015 on the campus of the University of Kentucky in Lexington, Kentucky. The Symposium will feature 18 papers by Neo-Latinists from Australia, Austria, Brazil, Canada, Ireland, Japan, Sweden, and the U.S. (California, Florida, Georgia, Illinois, North Carolina, and Ohio). Discussion will follow each group of papers and everyone is encouraged to ask questions and contribute information; our goal is to make the Symposium a friendly and relaxed forum where there is a valuable exchange of information about Neo-Latin and where people can get to know others in the field. For more information on this year's Symposium (2015), please check the KFLC web site by googling 'KFLC' or by using the following url: <https://kflc.as.uky.edu/>. Or feel free to e-mail Jennifer Tunberg at jennifer.tunberg@gmail.com.
